In fact, words cannot describe my joy on this august occasion. As I accept this post I ask you all to accept, my deepest appreciation from the very depth of my heart.

The post of Head Prefect as you all know requires among others complete dedication and commitment to our aims and objectives. I wish to assure you all that I will not abuse the trust and unflinching confidence reposed in me. Indeed, I will do everything within my power to improve upon the image of this great school.

The 2011/12 prefectural board under the administration of Master Okumo Prince and his assistant Master Adu Boateng Justice during their tenure of office put in their all and tried their possible best to maintain and if possible increase or promote the level of discipline of this school thus uphold the good name of Great Okuapemman School, but as the old Akan adage goes “nipa b3yee bi, wamb3y3 ninyinaa”. At this juncture, I say “AYEKOO” to Master Okumo Prince, his assistant and the whole 2011/12 prefectural board for a good work done.

With such a strong foundation laid by our predecessors, we hope with the help of the Almighty God live up to high standards.
